These are the terms and conditions for the American Express / Business Extra Additional Rebate Program, and are applicable to the customer whose name appears below ("Company")

Terms and Conditions for Additional Rebate Program

Participation in the Additional Rebate Program is voluntary and Company may choose to participate in the arrangement at any time.

To participate in the Additional Rebate Program, Company must (1) agree to these terms and conditions; (2) complete and provide to American Airlines the Rebate Form; (3) have a travel agency; and (4) complete, sign and provide to American Airlines, Prism (American’s data aggregator) and each of its travel agencies of record a Data Release Authorization (DRA), which will be provided by American Airlines upon receipt of the enrollment form. The DRA authorizes the travel agency to transmit to American Airlines’ data aggregator certain carrier travel data relating to Company, to be processed by the data aggregator and shared with American Airlines for purposes of American’s evaluation of Company’s flight activity.

Company may withdraw from the Additional Rebate Program at any time upon notice to American Airlines, after which no Additional Rebate will be payable to Company as part of its Fare Rebate.

American reserves the right to terminate the participation of a Company in the Additional Rebate Program for fraud or where a Company fails to comply with the terms and conditions.

If American Airlines does not receive the complete information required from Company or complete information from Company’s travel agencies per the DRA, American Airlines will not process an Additional Rebate for Company. If American Airlines does not receive complete information from customer’s travel agencies per the DRA for a given measurement period, American Airlines may assume that the customer no longer participates in the Additional Rebate Program. In each case any Additional Fare Rebates that have not yet been awarded will be forfeited.

Company is not eligible for an Additional Rebate if, during the relevant quarter, (a) Company has a corporate negotiated fare discount; (b) participates in the American Express Mid-Market Direct travel agency program; and/or (c) does not have a travel agency.

For those Companies whose participation begins on any day other than the first day of a calendar quarter, their first measurement period will begin the following quarter, and if Company qualifies for an Additional Rebate, it will be funded the next quarter.

American may discontinue the Additional Rebate arrangement or modify the terms and conditions at any time. Where all or part of the Additional Rebate Program terminates, at American Airlines’ discretion, any Additional Rebates that have not yet been awarded prior to such termination may be forfeited.

Determination of Amount of Additional Rebate

Based on data received by American from its data aggregator, American will determine the “Ticketed Share” for each quarter. The “Ticketed Share” is the percentage of all ticketed revenue for Company that is attributable to tickets purchased for flights on American Airlines, US Airways, British Airways and/or Iberia (and their affiliated carriers), as a percentage of all ticketed revenue on all airlines for Company during the same quarter.

If Company’s Ticketed Share is less than or equal to 50%, or if the data received by American is incomplete, then Company will not qualify for an Additional Rebate for that quarter. If Company’s Ticketed Share is greater than 50% but less than or equal to 75%, then Company’s Additional Rebate will equal 1% of its Rebate Eligible Flown Revenue for the same quarter. If Company’s Ticketed Share is greater than 75%, then Company’s Additional Rebate will equal 2% of its Rebate Eligible Flown Revenue for the same quarter.

The additional 1% or 2% can only be earned on the amount of Flown Published Base Airfare purchased with the Card during the relevant quarter.
